Planted corn and potatoes - then it wouldn't rain

There's not a thing for a poor man in this world

I stood up on the hillside, looked up at the sky
"Lord", I said, "What makes you let it get this dry?"

There's not a thing for a poor man in this world

I got down on my knees, for rain I thought I'd pray
Along came a great big flood - washed everything away
There's not a thing for a poor man in this world

Hush up now honey, how don't you cry
Things are gonna get better, by and by
There's not a thing for a poor man in this world

I worked all that summer, worked all that fall
Lord I spent my Christmas in a pair of overalls
There's not a thing for a poor man in this world
Not for a poor man in this world
